RETURNING TO TECH WITH ANS

A SHARED COMMITMENT TO TECH TALENT

In early 2019 Tech Returners opened applications for the latest cohort of their ' Your Journey Into Tech' programme which would put 16 individuals through a 15 week programme to learn the fundamentals of Software Development alongside technical and personal development skills to empower them into a career in technology with businesses committed to supporting returner talent.

Manchester based Cloud and Digital Service Provider ANS was one such business, with a desire to grow its' development teams, support returner talent and women in particular though their Women in IT campaign.

ANS Group chose to sponsor two places on the course with the opportunity to hire two individuals from the 16 strong cohort.

Tech Returners have a really full approach to making sure they are putting people in the job market in Manchester and it's something which will have a profound impact on our business"

PUTTING LEARNING INTO ACTION

March 2019 saw 16 returners set off on their journey to return to a career in technology with the support of the Tech Returners coaches and ANS Group who met with the cohort to share the opportunities within their business and give a glimpse into life at ANS.

Fast forward to June and those same returners were back in the room with ANS Group to present their final projects harnessing all the skills they'd learned and more from the past 15 weeks.

And the result...

ANS GROUP HIRED 100% OF THEIR SPONSORED COHORT PLACES

> We started off sponsoring two places and I can see that growing to 4 and beyond.
> I would recommend Tech Returners to any business looking to grow dev squads and build a sustainable dev team, there is no better way than working with a platform like this.
